Explanation of Levels for Lead Architect Designer

The following levels, which relate to the complexity and value of the project, are available in each category:

- Level 1: Simple - conventional buildings, small scale (typically valued up to $5 million)
- Level 2: Medium - medium scale / complexity buildings (typically valued up to $15 million)
- Level 3: Complex - large scale, complex buildings (typically valued in excess of $15 million)

To be classified at Lead Architect Designer Level 1, 2 or 3, an Applicant must demonstrate that it has the experience, resources / personnel and management systems to successfully deliver professional services for a building project at that level.

Prequalification in a higher level automatically prequalifies that company in the lower level(s).

The prequalification system does not include project managers, contract managers and cost managers, which are engaged by DIT through a panel arrangement whenever required.

An Applicant's financial capacity is not considered in the prequalification system.
