What are design & cost review meetings? (1 of 1)

The development of design from concept to final is a repeated process of ongoing learning and exploration.

Testing different design options is a way your professional consultant learns about the potentials of your site and check their understanding with how you feel about each design option.

On our example site, your professional consultant may find potential for a few different design options as shown below.

Meetings

1 Your professional consultant will organise time to meet with you to discuss the design and estimated costs.

2 Your professional consultant will help you compare options until an agreed option is decided to proceed to detailed design.
